

Vera Bradley Partners with Blessings in a Backpack to Donate 25,000 Backpacks for Back-to-School Season

August 22, 2018

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 22, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Vera Bradley, the women's fashion and lifestyle brand, announces today its continued partnership with the non-profit organization Blessings in a Backpack to kick off a new philanthropic program for this year's back-to-school season. Blessings in a Backpack mobilizes communities, individuals, and resources to provide food for elementary school children across America who might otherwise go hungry.

"The consequences of hunger are much more than a growling stomach," says Richard Stephens, Board of Directors Chair for Blessings in a Backpack. "Poor nutrition can result in a weaker immune system, increased hospitalization, lower IQ, shorter attention spans, and lower academic achievement. We are honored to partner with Vera Bradley to continue making a difference in these children's lives."

Fourteen million, or 19%, of all children across the United States live in food-insecure homes. This back-to-school season, Vera Bradley has pledged to donate 25,000 backpacks filled with food to children in need across America. Together, Vera Bradley and Blessings in a Backpack will target schools in seven markets nationwide including Chicago, Illinois; Fort Myers, Florida; Grand Prairie, Texas; Los Angeles, California; Louisburg, Kansas; Nashville, Tennessee; and New Brunswick, New Jersey during a four-week period this summer. Each school will be treated to a carnival-themed event with a surprise celebrity host appearance which will culminate in the backpack giveaways.

"Giving back has always been a key component in our brand DNA," says Barbara Bradley Baekgaard, Co-Founder of Vera Bradley. "We are very fortunate to partner with Blessings in a Backpack to make a positive impact in the lives of so many deserving children and their families."
